

“Serbia and Montenegro: A Step Closer to Reaching EU Accession?”

List of Speakers

Jela BAĆOVIĆ is Deputy Assistant Minister of Foreign Affairs for the European Union at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Serbia. From 2007 to 2012 she served as Ambassador of the Republic of Serbia to the Kingdom of Spain and Andorra. Before that Ambassador Baćović was Acting Director General of the Directorate General for the EU at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Among other positions, she was Director at the EU Integration Office of Serbia and Montenegro; Co-Chair of the SEE Stability Pact Initiative for Social Cohesion; Expert appointed as Coordinator of the Second Working Table of the SEE Stability Pact; Appointed permanent member of the Working Group for SEE Trade Liberalization, Head of the Department of International Economic Cooperation and Regional Organizations at the Federal Ministry of International Economic Relations of the FRY. Jela Baćović graduated in Belgrade at the Faculty of Law of the Belgrade University on 1981.

Péter BALÁZS is director of the Center for EU Enlargement Studies which he established in 2005. Research activities of Prof. Balázs are centered on the foreign policy of the EU and problems of the late modernization and European integration of the Eastern part of the continent. He also analyzes the questions of European governance including the future of European institutions. Péter Balázs graduated in Budapest at the Faculty of Economics of the “Karl Marx” University (later: Budapest School of Economics, today Corvinus University). He got his PhD degree and habilitated at the same University. He is a ScD of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences. In parallel with his government and diplomatic career, he has been teaching and doing research. He was nominated Professor of the Corvinus University in 2000 and joined the Central European University as a full time Professor in 2005. He is regularly teaching at various Hungarian and foreign universities, lecturing in English, French, German and Hungarian. After the systemic change in 1990, Prof. Balázs joined the Government of Hungary several times. He was State Secretary for Industry and Trade (1992-1993) and State Secretary for European Integration (2002-2003). He was Ambassador of Hungary in Denmark (1994-1996), Germany (1997-2000) and to the EU in Brussels (2003-2004). He was also the Government Representative of Hungary in the European Convention drafting the Constitutional Treaty, which became later, after several modifications, the Lisbon Treaty. In 2004, he was nominated the first Hungarian Member of the European Commission responsible for regional policy. In 2009-2010, he was Foreign Minister of Hungary.

Péter Ákos BOD is director of Institute of Economics at Corvinus University of Budapest, and Doctor of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences. Bod is a former governor of the Hungarian central bank, and a former cabinet minister of industry and trade. He is vice chairman of the Hungarian Economic Society.

Vedran DŽIHİĆ is currently Senior Researcher at oiip – Austrian Institute for International Affairs, Lecturer at the Institute for Political Sciences, University of Vienna, and Co-Director of Center for Advanced Studies, South East Europe. He has been Austrian Marshall Plan Fellow at the Center for Transatlantic Relations, School of Advanced International Studies, Johns Hopkins University, Washington D.C. Džihić is author of 4 monographs and editor/co-editor of further 14 edited volumes/books. He is also author of numerous book chapters, scholarly articles, policy papers and op-eds on various topics. Recently, he co-edited two books in cooperation with Brookings Institutions Press and Center for Transatlantic Relations, SAIS, Washington DC: “Unfinished Business. The Western Balkans and the International Community” (2012), together with Dan Hamilton, and “Looming Shadows. Migration and Integration at a Time of Upheaval. European and American Perspectives” (2012), together with Thomas Schmidinger. Džihić received his MA and PhD with honours from the University of Vienna.

Miloš ERİĆ researches European economic integration, economic development and energy efficiency at the Faculty of Economics, Finance and Administration (FEFA) in Belgrade. He also takes interest in corporate social responsibility, public management, e-commerce and information and communication technologies. Erić has worked as a consultant for the World Bank and the German International Cooperation (GIZ) on projects related to education financing and financial model development for energy efficient retrofitting. He was also a guest lecturer at the Institute of Gender Equality of Vojvodina, and gave a masters course in public health at the School of Medicine, University of Belgrade.

Danijela JAĆIMOVIĆ works at the Faculty of Economics since 1995. Her field of interest is International Economics and European Integration. Since 2014 Prof. Jaćimović is full-time Professor at the Faculty of Economic teaching the following undergraduate modules: International Economics, Introduction to EU economics; and at the graduate level: EU Institutions and International Finance. Also, she works at the Faculty of Political Science teaching EU-related courses. Prof. Jaćimović worked as a consultant for 7 years in a USAID project related to the development of macro statistics in Montenegro. She was one of the authors of the monograph about higher education impact to Montenegro integration practice published by Springer. Part of this monograph deals with Euro and Euro-Atlantic integration and was published by the Montenegrin Academy of Science, than university text books relate to EU topics and text books for elementary and secondary school as well as teachers' manuals author. Jaćimović has published several papers and participated at several conferences related to EU topics. Currently Prof. Jaćimović is member of Doctoral studies board at the University of Montenegro.

Boglárka KOLLER is the head of Department of European Studies and acting as vice dean for science and international relations at the Faculty of International and European Studies, National University of Public Service, Budapest. She graduated at the Corvinus University, Budapest as an economist in 1998; she holds an MA in Nationalism Studies from the Central European University, Budapest and an MSc in European Studies from the London School of Economics and Political Science. Her main research areas are governance and policy-making in the EU, history and theories of integration, differentiated integration and multi-speed Europe, identity issues and Euroscepticism in East-Central Europe. She defended her PhD thesis (The dynamic model of the post-national identity structure) in 2004 at the Corvinus University. She has numerous publications on European integration among which there are three books (Nemzet, identitás és politika Európában - Nations, identities and politics in Europe -, L'Harmattan, Budapest, 2006.; Európa utazása - Journey of Europe. History of EU integration; co-author with Krisztina Arató, Gondolat Kiadó, 2009; Képzelt Európa – Imagined Europe; co-author with Krisztina Arató, Balassi Kiadó, 2013) and four edited volumes.

Jovana MAROVIĆ is a research coordinator at the Institute Alternativa (Podgorica based think tank and scientific research institute). She holds a PhD from the Faculty of Political Sciences in Belgrade with a dissertation "Structural democracy problems in the EU Political system." Jovana has successfully completed several specialized diplomatic programs, including Diplomatic Academy organized by the Law Faculty in Podgorica and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Since March 2012 she is a member of the working group for Chapter XXIII – Judiciary and fundamental rights – in preparation for accession of Montenegro to the EU.

Tamás NOVÁK is Associate professor at Budapest Business School - College of International Management and Business and senior research fellow in the Centre for Economic and Regional Studies of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences. He was the 2013/2014 Austrian Marshall Plan Foundation Fellow in Central European studies at the Centre for Transatlantic Relations, Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies (SAIS), Johns Hopkins University. His main field of research and teaching over the past twenty years has been centered on the different aspects of social and economic transition and policies of Central and Eastern Europe (CEE) with particular focus on Hungary, the V4 countries, and the Western Balkans.

Marko SAVKOVIĆ works as Program Coordinator at the Belgrade Fund for Political Excellence (BFPE), where he is primarily tasked with directing the program of the Belgrade Security Forum (www.belgradeforum.org). Previously, also at BFPE, he was in charge of the Regional Academy for Democracy (www.radwb.eu), an initiative aiming to build “the next generation of political leadership in the Western Balkans”. Previously, Marko worked as a researcher in the Belgrade Centre for Security Policy (BCSP), specializing in the fields of defense reform, civil-military relations and Euro-Atlantic integration. While working in BCSP, he co-authored the first “Dictionary of European Security” published in BHS languages, followed by a pioneering study in peacekeeping practices of Western Balkans’ countries. As of this year, he is a PhD candidate at the Belgrade Faculty of Political Science, researching into what he sees as “privatization” of peace-building efforts worldwide. His work and thoughts have been published extensively in academic journals (Journal of Regional Security, Analytical, Vojno delo) as well as various magazines and portals (Novi magazin, European Voice, Pescanik.net).

Hana SEMANIĆ is a researcher at the Central European University, Centre for EU Enlargement Studies (CENS). She joined CENS in November 2010, concentrating on SEE-EU relations with a special focus on the Western Balkans. Hana earned her M.A. degree in International Relations and European Studies from the CEU in 2010. Her thesis focused on the security sector reform analyzing the dissimilar forms and modalities of local ownership in defense and police reforms in Bosnia and Herzegovina. Before coming to the CEU, she worked for a development agency (2007-2009) managing a cross-border cooperation project between Bosnia and Herzegovina and Croatia.

John SHATTUCK is president and rector of CEU. Before coming to CEU, he was CEO of the John F. Kennedy Library Foundation, a national public affairs center in Boston, and Senior Fellow at Tufts University, where he taught human rights and international relations. President Shattuck served as Assistant Secretary of State for Democracy, Human Rights and Labor under President Clinton, playing a major role in the establishment by the UN of the International Criminal Tribunals for Rwanda and the former Yugoslavia; assisting an international coalition under UN authority to restore a democratically-elected government to Haiti; and negotiating the Dayton Peace Agreement and other efforts to end the war in BiH. Subsequently he served as US Ambassador to the Czech Republic, working with the Czech government to assist in overhauling the country's legal system, and with Czech educators to support innovative civic education programs in the country's schools and universities. In recognition of his human rights leadership, he has received the International Human Rights Award from the UN Association of Boston; the Ambassador's Award from the American Bar Association Central and East European Law Initiative; and the Tufts University Jean Mayer Global Citizenship Award.

Tamás SZIGETVÁRI is a senior research fellow at the Institute for World Economics of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences since 1996. He is also an associate professor at the Pázmány Péter Catholic University since 2010. His graduate and postgraduate studies were undertaken at the Budapest University of Economic Studies (Corvinus University). His current research activity concentrates on the European neighborhood.

Marija VUKŠANOVIĆ is a coordinator of the Rule of Law Program at the Centre for Democracy and Human Rights. Marija holds a degree of the Law Faculty of the State University and is currently working on her master thesis at the Faculty of Political Science. Her field of expertise covers judicial reform, human and minority rights and social inclusion. In recent years, she has coordinated several projects dealing with asylum and migration reform in Montenegro. Marija is a member of CEDEM's Trial Monitoring Team and has participated in several working groups for drafting legislation in areas of social policy and civil society development.